POOLING PLAN CARRIES BY MAJORITY

Independent Shippers Offer Strenuous Opposition But Are Overborne By Tonnage

A majority vote gave endorsement of the pooling plan recently worked out by the Directors of the B. C. Growers' and Shippers' Federation, at the adjourned meeting of that body held in the I.O.O.F. Temple yesterday afternoon, when the details of the plan, published in The Courier last week, were thoroughly discussed. The recommendations of the Directors were supported by the Associated Growers, Creston Growers, Okanagan Packers and Mr. M. G. Wilson, of Summerland, representing a total tonnage of 4,010 cars, while the pooling plan contained in the recommendations was strenuously opposed by some sixteen independent shippers, a combined tonnage of 1,698 cars.

Armstrong celery growers and shippers, ninety-nine per cent strong, registered objection to the pooling of the celery crop, and various other details were opposed by independent groups, while some were diametrically opposed to any plan of pools for fruit and vegetables. A number of amendments put before the meeting by independent factions were defeated when a poll was taken.

The third meeting of the Federation called to discuss a pooling plan for the marketing of the 1930 crops occupied three hours.

With Mr. E. J. Chambers in the chair, supported by Mr. R. Cheyne, Secretary, the meeting was called to order shortly after 2 p.m., when the chairman read the Directors' recommendations.

Mr. Kidston Leads Opposition

Mr. John Kidston, of Coldstream, raised the first objection, stating that the recommendations came from the Directors, who had no standing. The power was in the hands of the Committee of Direction, who could make alterations. They knew nothing of the Committee's intentions or of their opinions in the matter. Every detail should be definitely fixed and, when approved, not subject to alteration.

The chairman replied that the details had been delivered into thoroughly by joint meetings of the Federation and the Committee, and that the latter were familiar with the plan proposed. They were prepared to put it into effect.

Mr. Kidston remarked that Creston had been excluded in previous recommendations but not in that before the meeting, to which the chairman replied that Creston was excluded by the Produce Marketing Act. Mr. Kidston made flat denial.

Pooling was an experiment in marketing, declared the chairman. Difficult questions were bound to arise from time to time and, for that reason, it was impossible to make minute plans. The Committee should be given latitude in minor details, at least.

Mr. A. T. Howe, of Vernon, asked why the Kootenay and Creston had been excluded from pools. The chairman said they had been left out this year as it would not affect the B. C. deal to any great degree. Furthermore, they had certain advantages.

At this point, Mr. R. B. Staples moved that the Directors' recommendations be approved. The whole thing had drifted along for some time, he said, and the details had been discussed by all.

Capt. Rattray, Salmon Arm, seconded the motion.

As Creston was excluded, and as Mr. Staples represented Creston Growers, Major McGuire, of Vernon, questioned Mr. Staples' right to move adoption of the recommendations. The chairman ruled it in order.

Mr. Poole, of Armstrong, suggested that the recommendations be divided into two resolutions—one for fruit and one for vegetables. Mr. Cuthbert, Armstrong, endorsed Mr. Poole's suggestion. Mr. Staples saw no reason why they should be divided, as the vegetables would be linked up closely with the fruit it was proposed to pool. If it was the wish of the meeting, however, it could be done.

In response to a question put by Mr. Leo Hayes, Mr. P. M. Black said that three men had been appointed to consult with the Committee on the details of pools as they went along. The general outline was proposed in the recommendations would govern.

Mr. Howe remarked that he understood that another body, known as "governors of the pool," had been appointed. Why was it necessary to appoint such a body if the Committee had full powers?

The chairman pointed out that no such body existed under that name—only a small committee to work with the Committee of Direction. Getting back to the actual recommendations, he said that the meeting would deal with them as a whole and consider amendments later. In the recommendations, it was suggested that a season pool should commence on celery on July 31st, but it was now thought advisable to wait until the fall movement before action was taken. That amendment was already conceded.

Objection To Celery Pool

Mr. Poole, registering the first objection to the pooling of celery, asked what benefit was to be derived by doing so. As much of it was sold between houses, pooling of it would hinder trade tremendously as they would

LIBERALS HEAR WILKINS AND DONAGHY

Yale Candidate And Former Member For North Vancouver Meet With Cordial Reception

Mr. Dougald Donaghy, K.C., of Vancouver, a former member of federal and provincial parliaments, ably set forth the policies of the Liberal party in the L.O.O.F. Temple on Thursday evening last, when he addressed an enthusiastic gathering in behalf of Mr. W. G. Wilkins, Liberal candidate for Yale, who gave a concise summary of the past record of the King administration.

The audience, which filled the hall to capacity, gave the speakers an attentive hearing. An unseen audience also listened in as the speeches were broadcasted over Radio Station 10AY.

Dr. W. J. Knox

Dr. W. J. Knox, chairman, prior to introducing the Liberal candidate, urged that citizens use the same judgment in voting as they would exercise in their own private business affairs. He did not believe in asking a man how he would vote; he preferred to inform him of the issues of the day and let him form his own opinion. After all, there were only two main issues. "What is the record of the past government? What methods are proposed for the next four years?" Were the latter clear cut to carry Canada to prosperity?

The chairman dealt with unemployment, stating that England, though a great manufacturing centre, had its unemployment problems. They were trying to lessen it, but not by an expensive session in parliament. In this province, expensive machinery was doing the work formerly carried on by large numbers of men. The old way would give more employment. He concluded with a reference to Empire preference, which he termed "a graceful gesture."

The Liberal Candidate

Mr. Wilkins, who made his debut to a Kelowna audience, on that night, proved to be a forceful and pleasing platform speaker. His address was greeted with prolonged applause. Dealing briefly with each point, he outlined Canada's march to prosperity, following the depression which existed in 1921, when the Liberals were returned.

not know its price. Unless he worked on a price, the grower would not put it in a warehouse. There had been no surplus of celery in Armstrong in years. He looked for a fair deal and did not wish to see the celery industry ruined. He moved that celery be left out of pools altogether.

Mr. Cuthbert voiced strong support of the motion. He had handled, grown and shipped thousands of tons of celery, he declared, and when those in the southern section of the Okanagan attempted to force celery into a pool it was high time for Armstrong to have a say in the matter. Who had asked for celery to be pooled? Certainly not he, who grew it in Armstrong, as celery grove there had met recently and declared against the idea. With one exception. A Mr. Lane, who two years ago inherited property on which celery was raised, had not objected, but he raised less than ten per cent of the Armstrong crop. Those asking for a celery pool had no money invested in Armstrong.

Mr. R. W. McDonald was another Armstrong objector to a celery pool.

The chairman asked why, then, should there be any control at all? To which Mr. Cuthbert replied that they had not asked for control but, as growers, were satisfied with it. Mr. Poole added that they were not objecting to control but to pooling.

Mr. Staples Urges Action

Mr. Staples, reviewing the situation they had been facing in the past, said that last December they had taken a certain stand, but since then had drifted so long that some personal beginning to think there was personal interest involved. In December they had started to talk about the possibilities of the coming season, and the conclusions they had reached were to the effect that the prospects were none too good; they had concluded that without the bolstering up of market control things would not work out well. They had thought that the Committee needed assistance of some kind, but the end of July was near and nothing constructive had been done. In the last ten years he had been an employer of labour. Today he saw labour conditions far worse than ever before. General conditions were serious and unless constructive measures were adopted a reputation of the disastrous times of ten years ago was facing them. He had not thought the continuance of control possible this year without bolstering up of the Act. He did not know whether pooling would be a panacea for their ills, but even if it only enabled them all to get together it would be infinitely worth while.

Mr. Cuthbert liked Mr. Staples' "splendid remarks," but could not see why celery should be pooled when, with the exception of one case, celery had never been "out of order" in the past twenty-one years in Armstrong.

Celery Pool Suggested

Messrs. Poole and McDonald also objected further to celery pools, after which a poll was taken and the objection was defeated. Associated Growers, Creston Growers and Okanagan Packers opposed the resolution with 3,984

REGATTA NEARS ITS SILVER JUBILEE

Twenty-Fourth Annual Event On August 13th And 14th—Midway And Carnival New Features

On August 13th and 14th, Kelowna will hold its annual Regatta for the twenty-fourth time. Aquatic sports, popularized possibly to a greater extent in this city by the lake than at other Interior centres, will once again be staged for the entertainment of sports-loving people. The one factor dependent upon its absolute success, barring accidents, is a smiling sky. With Old Sol on the job, Kelowna's two big days promise to be replete with thrills and entertainment difficult of emulation.

Although the four-oared crew of the gold and black has met defeat at the hands of Vancouver's premier oarsmen for the past two years, thus losing to the Coast the championship of Okanagan Lake, it is confidently expected that they will be "in the running" this year. Last year they practised so little and worked together so infrequently that they were unable to provide anything like real competition. This summer crews have been working out diligently under a Vancouver coach. The result should be well worth witnessing next month, when Kelowna will compete with Victoria, Nelson and Vernon, in addition to Vancouver. The girls are also working out quite regularly and should put up good exhibitions of oarsmanship.

Swimming and diving events, always exceedingly interesting, should be better than in recent years. Kelowna has quite a number of fast and versatile swimmers and a few exceptionally good divers. They should be able to hold their own with outside competition. It is expected that several Coast swimmers will enter in the events.

Aquatic novelties, canoe and war canoe races, exhibitions of surf riding, combined with other attractions, will tend to give real holiday atmosphere to the two days of water sports. The popular outboard motor speedboat races will again be an important feature of the Regatta. The speedy little craft, spectacular to a degree, can be depended upon usually to provide thrills aplenty.

One of the new features of the 1930 Regatta will be a midway and carnival, which will be going strong during each afternoon and evening. Mr. Vernon Stiles, of Kamloops, has this concession.

As usual, fireworks will form one of the big attractions on Thursday evening, after the final day of sports has been concluded. With the Kelownians Orchestra in attendance, a dance will be held in the Aquatic Pavilion on both nights. Music during the afternoons will be provided through the courtesy of the Ogoogo Club, operating over Radio Station 10AY. Results of each event will also be announced through the station's new amplification equipment, a vast improvement over former methods.

The Regatta will be held under the distinguished patronage of His Honour R. Randolph Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

MEMORIAL TO FIREMEN WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES

Fire Brigade Commemorates Comrades Who Fell In The Great War

The Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade have erected a striking memorial in remembrance of members who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War. It was assembled on Friday and Saturday and placed in position at the north-west corner of the Fire Hall lot, where it now stands in silent tribute to firemen who crossed the seas in defence of their country, never to return.

The memorial, purchased by the Brigade with their own funds, is of Coast granite, a product of the B. C. Monumental Works, of Vancouver. It stands about twelve feet high, a broken column reaching skyward, which has as its foundation a rough-hewn centre stone and a smooth granite base. Near the top of the column is the inscription "1914-1918," while lower down a maple leaf has been engraved. A small stone, between the column and the large centre stone, bears the words "The Great War," while the rough centre section contains the following panel: "In Remembrance Of Those Who Paid The Supreme Sacrifice." The granite base, resting on a cement foundation level with the ground, bears this inscription at the top centre: "Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade." At each side are the names of the fallen: "Jack L. McMillan, 48th Batt'n; Leonard McMillan, 7th Batt'n; Walter H. Raymer, 72nd Batt'n; Leonard Pettigrew, 47th Batt'n; A. Milton Wilson, C.G.A.; Neil Dalgleish, C.A.S.C." All lettering has been executed in lead, painted black, for durability. The memorial was installed by Messrs. Dore & Ryan.

LADY CONAN DOYLE GETS SPIRIT MESSAGES

CROWBOROUGH, England, July 31.—Lady Conan Doyle stated today that since her husband's death she has received several spirit messages from him. Other persons, she stated, had also received communications and photos.

"I am glad to know he is with me," she said, "otherwise his passing would have killed me."

CONSERVATIVE MAJORITY IS THIRTY-ONE

OTTAWA, July 31.—Complete returns show the Conservative majority over all to be 31. The vote in Yukon, Que., has resulted in a tie, which the Returning Officer will terminate by casting the deciding ballot. Three recounts have been requested in Quebec.

WASTAGE IN FRUIT EXPORTS FROM CANADA

Empire Marketing Board Issues Report Upon Investigations Made During Survey

A two years' survey of the amount and types of wastage in Canadian fruit exported to the United Kingdom has just been published by the Empire Marketing Board in the form of a Report, E.M.B. No. 30, ("Canadian Fruit Shipments," H.M. Stationery Office, London, 1/- net).

For the past two seasons the Board's scientific officers have examined Canadian fruit as it arrived at London, Liverpool and elsewhere, estimated the percentage of fruit which has deteriorated en route, and tracked down the causes of this loss. Thus the survey has backed up the valuable work being done by Canadian fruit experts, by finding out just what has happened to the fruit when it arrives at its final destination. Close co-operation is maintained with experts at the Canadian end, and experimental shipments, designed to try out different methods of control, have been sent to the Empire Marketing Board's scientists from Experimental Stations in Canada.

Apples from Ontario and Nova Scotia and from British Columbia differ greatly in the types of wastage which affect them, due largely to different methods of transport. Eastern Canadian fruit comes over in barrels, in ordinary country whereas British Columbian fruit is packed in boxes, and the proportion of it that goes through the Panama Canal travels in cold storage.

Perfection The Goal

"The condition of Canadian apples on arrival in the United Kingdom is generally good," the Report says, "and many consignments appeared to have suffered very little deterioration in transit." But, good as the quality of Canadian fruit is, market competition is so severe that nothing but perfection must be the goal, and it is with the object of assisting in the steady improvement in Canadian fruit which is taking place that the Empire Marketing Board has carried out and published this survey.

In the 1928-29 season Ontario and Nova Scotia together exported 676,500 barrels, and British Columbia exported 847,300 boxes of apples to the United Kingdom. So that, even if the amount of wastage were as low as 1 per cent, this would mean that some 6,700 barrels and 8,473 boxes of damaged and valueless apples were exported to the British market.

Fungal Rotting

On the whole, the most serious cause of trouble was fungal rotting. Fungi, generally speaking, can only enter the fruit when it has been bruised, and the injuries sustained by packing apples in barrels make the destructive task of the fungi a serious one. The lower layers in the barrels receive considerably harsher treatment than upper layers—due to the pressing down of the fruit as it is filled—and these lower layers were almost invariably found to be the most heavily infected by rots.

Serious Loss From Scab

"It seems important," states the Report, "that 'pressing down' and other packing processes likely to injure the fruit should be reduced to the minimum." (Continued on Page 8)

FABRIC TROUBLE DELAYS ARRIVAL OF R-100

ST. HUBERT, Que., July 31.—Fabric trouble aboard the British dirigible R-100 has necessitated a reduction of her speed, and the great airship may not arrive here until tomorrow morning instead of at 7:00 tonight, as had been expected, according to wireless messages from the dirigible received this afternoon.

KING AND BENNETT JOKE EACH OTHER

OTTAWA, July 31.—The best of feeling was exhibited today when Premier-elect Bennett called upon Premier-elect King, and they joked each other, particularly about the devious trails of each in their campaign tours across the country and back.

The indications are that Mr. Bennett will delay all tariff and budget developments until his return from the Imperial Conference, and he will consequently take over the Finance portfolio himself.

It is a foregone conclusion that a cabinet portfolio will be tendered to Hon. H. H. Stevens, most likely that of Trade and Commerce. He has been mentioned as Minister to Japan, but Mr. Bennett prefers his aid in the cabinet.

Hon. V. Massey last night tendered his resignation as Minister to Washington.

SIR G. E. FOSTER SPEAKS BEFORE SERVICE CLUBS

Venerable Statesman Delivers Fine Address At Dinner-Meeting Upon International Relations

Although the evening was somewhat close and sultry and of the type when most people prefer a cool spot to attendance at any public function, some eighty members of the Board of Trade, Canadian, Rotary and Gyro Clubs assembled on Tuesday night in the dining-room of the Royal Anne Hotel to hear an address by the Hon. Sir George E. Foster, K.C.M.G., upon the subject of "International Relations," and they were well repaid for the effort they had made to tear themselves away from slippers and absence of a collar. The venerable statesman was in splendid form and he handled his subject in masterly manner and with all the traditional easy flow of expressive language which has marked his lengthy record of public service.

Mr. F. M. Buckland, President of the Rotary Club, occupied the chair at the outset, and, after "O Canada," had been sung, at his invitation Ven. Archdeacon Greene said grace. During an excellent meal, Mrs. J. H. Trenwith sang "Land of Hope and Glory" in splendid voice, accompanied by Mr. T. Marriage, and was loudly applauded. The assemblage rising and singing the chorus along with her. The chairman conveyed the thanks of the diners to Mrs. Trenwith and presented her with a token of appreciation.

It was explained by Mr. Buckland that the Rotary Club had invited Sir George Foster to address them at their usual weekly luncheon, but so many were desirous of hearing him that it was decided, with his consent, to change the hour to the evening and to invite the Board of Trade, Canadian Club and Gyro Club members to join them, hence the large gathering that evening. He would ask Mr. F. M. Black, President of the Canadian Club, to take charge of the meeting and to introduce the speaker of the evening.

Mr. F. M. Black

Mr. Black expressed his appreciation of the honour conferred upon him and upon the Canadian Club in the invitation to preside, which helped to cement the bonds uniting the service clubs of Kelowna. Introducing Sir George as a guest in his accustomed felicitous manner, he surprised many of the audience when he revealed that Sir George was in his eighty-third year. He was doing a man's work, said Mr. Black, before most of those in that room came into the world. Few men with such clear recollections of the organization and early days of the Dominion were able at the present time to address an audience. Engaged in scholastic work principally prior to 1882, since that time Sir George had spent his years in public service, for of them as a Minister of the Crown in important posts such as that of Finance and of Trade and Commerce, and afterwards in various plenipotentiary positions, especially in connection with the League of Nations in 1920 and 1926.

Younger men, declared the chairman, should take joy in doing reverence to a citizen who had spent so many years in public service. If Sir George could only be of intense interest, and he hoped that he would compile his reminiscences in book form. It was a unique opportunity that was to be enjoyed that evening of hearing of the work at Geneva from the speaker, whom Mr. Black presented to the audience, amid loud applause, as "Sir George Eulas Foster, Minister Plenipotentiary for Canada at large."

Sir George Foster

Sir George, who spoke throughout without the use of notes and in a wonderfully powerful and penetrating voice, commencing his advanced age, said, in opening, that he had intended to enjoy a rest amongst their delectable mountains, but when he reached the Okanagan he found that the people expected something of him and, in view of the very kindly reception given to him on his former visit several years ago, he could not refuse when they invited him to address them.

With a flash of humour, referring probably to political opponents as well as those who had eulogized him, he said his past life had been expiated upon fully by others and he would not impose any of it upon them. Nor would he refer to national or provincial issues, as they had had a surfeit of them during the past two or three months, but he would ask for their sympathy for the new government in the difficulties of building a ministry and tackling the complex problems that were to be found in their chairs and criticizing the new administration from the outset.

It was a wonderful source of strength, in measure not yet plumbed, for the sympathy of the people, rightly directed, to find its way from the remotest corners to the heads of the government. So let them give their sympathy. He was thankful that night for two things: (1) that the election was over, and (2) that the party in power now had a clear majority over all, which made for honesty and efficiency in government as compared with government by groups. Comparing conditions in France, where the presence of many groups in Parliament made the life of any administration brief and precarious.

HEAT SLACKS OFF PRAIRIE FRUIT TRADE

Between-Season Time Also Held Responsible For Tired Feeling In Markets

(Telegraphic report by J. A. Grant, Markets Commissioner.)

CALGARY, July 30.—The weather is very hot and is hastening the filling of the grain. The trade seems to enact a tired feeling, partly due to the weather and mostly to the fact that it is a between-seasons time. Berries and cherries are nearing the finish and so are apricots. Peaches, apples, plums and pears are just beginning. Celery is also between seasons. Its quality is better this year than usual and more is being consumed. Apples are down to $1.00 per crate at shipping point, but they are small and the movement is slow. No B. C. pears are offering and only a few peaches. Trade will improve when these fruits and grapes are ready.

Cantaloupes, Casabas and Honeydews will start from Oliver about August 8. Tomatoes are not in sufficient volume to name a control price on them. They are selling here to the wholesale trade at $3.50 a crate.

Washington quotations are: tomatoes, $1.10; apples, 85¢; and $1.00; Gravenstein, wrapped, $1.35; pears, Bartlett, Fancy, $1.00.

Raspberries are selling at $3.50 from cars. Creston and Armstrong local raspberries sell at $3.00, being in soft condition, caused by heat.

Potatoes continue to arrive direct to jobbers, mostly from Vancouver. Control price lays them down at $37.50, but they are selling at $35.00 a ton. Action to enforce control is reported.

A car of Lower Mainland raspberries arrived today.

Kootenay cherries are in heavy volume now but none arrive in carlots. Bings and Lamberts are of good quality. Royal Annes are slightly discoloured.

OPEN AIR RADIO CONCERTS PLEASE

Programmes Offered Include Many Pieces Of High Standard

(Contributed)

That the series of radio concerts which are now being broadcasted in the City Park by the Ogoogo Club, sponsored by local merchants, are popular is proved by the increasingly large attendance. On Sunday afternoons and on Tuesday evenings the Park drives-ways are crowded with cars, while the lawns are equally crowded with listeners enjoying the excellent music provided. The concerts sponsored recently by the German Hall, Ltd., Orchard City Motors and the Golden Pheasant Cafe, Ltd., and Mr. J. B. Knowles were all well attended, but it remained for the concert on Tuesday evening last, sponsored by the Empress Theatre, to cap them all in point of attendance and in the class of music provided. Although the music was mechanically reproduced, the applause was long and continuous following each number. The programme, which will give some idea of the standard of each entertainment, follows:

"Wee McGregor Patrol" and "Polliceman's Holiday," H.M. Coldstream Guards Band; "Dance of the Hours," Victor Symphony Orchestra; "Coronation March" and "War March of the Priests," Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra; "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Song of Songs," with vocal solos by Richard Crooks, tenor; "Tales of Hoffman" and Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman," Victor Concert Orchestra; "Song of the Volga Boatman," vocal solo by Feodor Chaliapin; Selections from "The Fortune Teller" and "Kiss Me Again," Victor Salon Group; Gems from "The Desert Song," Victor Light Opera Co.; "Blue Danube Waltz" and "Tales from the Vienna Woods," Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra; "The Mikado," H.M. Grenadier Guards Band; "La Marseillaise," Le Garde Republicaine Band; "God Save The King." Concerts are scheduled for every Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and every Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. September permitting, until the end of September. Lovers of good music who take the trouble to visit the Park on those days will not be disappointed. On Sunday, August 10th, a special treat is assured lovers of Gilbert and Sullivan opera as arrangements have been completed to reproduce the famous opera, "Yeoman of the Guard" in its entirety. The Ogoogo Club are particularly pleased that their efforts are meeting with such appreciation. The merchants and business men who are sponsoring the programmes are assured that their interest in the matter meets with the approval of the public.

NANAIMO SEAT OFFERED STEVENS?

NANAIMO, July 31.—C. H. Dickie, local Conservative member-elect, is reported to have offered his seat to Hon. H. H. Stevens, defeated in Vancouver.

BIG MAJORITY FOR STIRLING IN YALE

Margin Over Liberal Candidate Falls But Little Short Of Huge Figure Of 1926

While the Conservative ramparts in Vancouver fell before the fury of the Liberal assault, Yale stood fast on Monday in allegiance to Mr. Grote Stirling, who has represented the constituency for the past six years, and rolled up for him once more a huge majority, falling less than four hundred short of the record figure of 3,887 in 1926. In that year Mr. Stirling polled 7,815 votes to 3,928 for Mr. F. B. Cossitt, Liberal. In 1925, his majority over Col. C. E. Edgett was 2,703. With one poll, Westbridge, missing, and subject, of course, to revision, figures received up to this morning place Mr. Stirling's majority over Mr. Wilkins at 3,504.

Election day in Kelowna was unusually quiet, although much activity was shown by both parties in bringing voters to the polls. The new system of decentralizing the voting by establishing a separate polling place for each division probably accounted to a considerable extent for the lack of stir, as there was no large gathering of voters in any one place.

Returns were received by wire at the Conservative and Liberal committee rooms during the evening. In their disappointment at the overwhelming defeat of their government, the Liberals received a measure of consolation in the triumph achieved by their candidates in Vancouver, and the joy of the Conservatives was tempered correspondingly. There were plenty of wisecracks to assert "I told you so," but the extent of the landslide towards Conservatism, especially in Quebec and the prairie provinces, was a great surprise to most people, who looked to see a very close result, with a small majority either way.

The total vote in the city was the largest yet recorded, 1,673, as against 1,437 in 1926 and 1,469 in 1925. The details of the city polls were as follows:

At the first annual meeting of the newly formed Interior Provincial Exhibition Association, held in Armstrong last week, Mr. Percy E. French, of Vernon, former President of the old Agricultural Association, was unanimously chosen as first President of the new organization. Mr. Mat Hassen, of Armstrong, Secretary-Treasurer of the old institution, will also serve in that capacity for the new Association. A board of about fifty of the leading agriculturists in the valley was appointed, with associate Directors in other sections of the Interior. His Honour, the Lieutenant-Governor of B.C., will officiate at the formal opening of the Fair on Wednesday, September 10th.

Building permits in Penticton for the first half of 1930 were almost double the total for the first half of 1929. This year's figures are $86,400 as compared with $44,725 for a similar period in 1929. The heavy increase comes in the construction of the Co-operative addition at Penticton.

Nearly one and a half million Kamloops trout eggs were taken from Penask Lake this season by officials of the Dominion Fisheries Department, according to a statement made last week by Fisheries Inspector George Gartrell, Summerland. One quarter of that number were planted back in the Penask district, about 300,000 were taken to the Summerland hatchery, and the remainder were sent to other sections of the province.

1st Kelowna Troop

Troop First! Self Last!

Edited by S.M.

July 29th, 1930.
Orders for the week ending Thursday, August 7th, 1930:

Duties: Orderly Patrol for the week, Eades; next for duty, O. Rallies: The war canoe team will hold a practice at the Aquatic on Friday evening, August 1st, at 7.30. We will also hold a cleaning bee at an early date, to clean up the weeds and rubbish at the front of the hall.

Many of the younger boys, in the town are in the habit of meeting the passenger boats when they arrive at the wharves, for the purpose of diving for the coins which are thrown to them by the passengers. Scouts are forbidden to earn pocket money in this manner and if any member of the Troop is caught disobeying these instructions, he will be brought before the Court of Honour at an early date. Here is the reason for this order, under Section 51 of the Policy, Organization and Rules for Canada: "Scouts are not allowed to solicit money either for their Troop funds or for any other purpose. It is bad for the boy and lends itself to fraud by outsiders."

The S.M., with the D.C. and P.L.S. Williams, Ryan and Treadgold, paid a visit to the Rutland Troop's Camp at Okanagan Centre on Tuesday evening, July 22nd. We spent a very jolly evening around the camp fire, where many songs were sung and stories told. After this cake and coffee was handed around and about 10.30 we returned to town.

The following are the names of those chosen for the war canoe team which will race with the Sea Cadets in the coming Regatta: P.L.S. Ryan, McKie, Jim Treadgold, Aitken, Williams and Audison, and Scouts Chapin, Holes, Dore, A. Williams, Cross, Cushing, White, Hayman, Macfarlane and Poole.

OKANAGAN MISSION

Congratulations to Barbara Middlemass and Dick Hall on passing the Entrance Examinations; also to Archie Stubbs and Norman Mosey on successfully passing Junior Matriculation, and last, but not least, to Molly Thompson on gaining the I.O.D.E. Scholarship, awarded for the highest percentage of marks gained in either Senior or Junior Matriculation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Surtees and John left last week for Calgary, where they will stay some time.

Miss Claire and Miss Molly Thompson returned last Monday from the Coast, where they have been visiting.

Thanks to vigorous measures taken by the authorities, the fire on the hillside above the Mission is now almost a thing of the past. It came near to doing considerable damage on Mr. McKenzie's ranch.

On Thursday, July 24th, the second of the series of Gymkhanas started last year by the Eldorado Arms, and formed last spring into the Okanagan Mission Gymkhana Club, was held in Mr. Renfrew's field. The field, which is beautifully shady and cool, made a charming setting for the afternoon's entertainment. The club was started with the purpose of reviving in these two mechanical days the interest of the younger generation in the understanding and enjoyment of good horsemanship, and many old-timers present had much to say of similar gatherings in past days when everybody had a horse and paper chases and other diversions provided all kinds of fun.

There were eight events, including the Grand Parade, a cup for which was given by Mr. Horn for the best turned-out horse and saddle. This event was won by Leicester Collett. The other events were: Potato Race, won by Leicester Collett; Musical Chairs, won by Peter Mallam; Relay Race, won by team composed of Peter Mallam, Colin Carruthers, Joan Tallyour; Bending Race, won by Peter Mallam, closely followed by Joan Lysons; Threading Needle and Tying Tie, won by Leicester Collett; and Colin Carruthers; Whistling Race, won by Leicester Collett and Mary Murdoch.

The prizes were presented by Mrs. H. C. S. Collett. Another gymkhana will be held about the middle of August, when there will be open events as well as events with an age limit, and the prize for the Grand Parade will include management of mounts at the walk, trot, and canter. All these will be useful practice for those who intend to compete in the races and other events at the Fall Fair.

Visitors at the Eldorado Arms during the week include: G. Elliott Clarkson, London; Mrs. E. R. Webster and Bancroft Webster, New York City; Lucy Harrington, San Francisco; Mary A. Walsh, Republic, Washington; Mrs. Allen S. Gentles, Miss L. A. Smith, Vancouver; Dr. and Mrs. Alan B. Hall, Nanaimo; Mrs. E. B. Rutter, Saskatoon.

PHEASANTS PECK CROPS IN SEARCH OF WATER

Suggestion Offered To Prevent Damage By Thirsty Birds

When pheasants eat the farmer's berries, tomatoes and melons, there is something to be done about it besides shooting the birds, according to John L. Farley, of Oakland, Cal., executive officer of the California Division of Fish and Game.

The pheasants peck at these crops to secure water, he declares, and not because of their taste for fruit or vegetables. He has found that a few vessels of water in a garden or tomato field, particularly in the section through which the pheasants make their approach, will stop the trouble.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR*HUNTING THE GRIZZLY WITH BOW AND ARROW

315 Sayward Building, Victoria, B.C., July 23, 1930.
The Editor, Kelowna Courier.

The press of July 22nd announced that a certain champion archer from across the border is trying to make arrangements to kill grizzly bears and other big game in B.C. with his bow and arrows.

Killing from necessity is one thing; killing from "sport" is less desirable. Apparently the person in question is not particularly in need of big game specimens, because he has already shot many—so have his friends! What he does want is to exhibit his skill with his bow and arrows. He admits that he has never shot a grizzly this way, though his companions have done so. Will the enthusiast be successful, or will many animals have to suffer unnecessarily before a grizzly is disposed of? Does an arrow really inflict less pain than a bullet?

If one wants to develop skill in archery, why practice upon animals in B.C. or elsewhere? Do we, in British Columbia, want this undertaking to be carried out "for the purpose of organizing a boy and arrow hunt"? Being a humanely inclined people, could we not come to the humane decision that we can do without it and with a good deal of the slaughter inaugurated by big-game hunters?

With some people "sport" simply means "let us go out and kill something."

Yours truly, DORA KITTO.

PORTABLE TREES FOR THE DOG-DAYS!

Kelowna, July 28, 1930
The Editor, Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir,
Since in these days of heat it is conceded that the tree provides the best kind of shade, being far superior in that respect to the power line pole or Page wire fence, and it has been noticed that in many otherwise delightful spots where the sun is the tree invariably isn't. It is high time that something was done about it, but what? Trees are notoriously slow in their growth, and American trees, and the moving of a tree by a party of picnickers, on pleasure bent, from a friend's garden to another spot some miles distant, although possible, would not only be difficult but it is to be feared that the very presence of a tree, complete in all its details with a few barrow loads of soil on a small motor-car, already packed with six or seven picnickers, with kettle, cups and saucers, etc., wedged into odd nooks and crannies, would tend to cast a gloom which would be hard to dispel. And it is more than likely that the picnickers, on packing up to go home, would carelessly or carefully leave their friend's tree behind to litter the beach in company with the paper plates and spoons and comic supplements to the daily papers.

So there is nothing for it but to manufacture trees, portable trees. They may be constructed on a sort of "shut-up" principle, provision being made against any unexpected "shut-up" in the middle of a thunderstorm. The base may be a flat wooden disc; the trunk telescopic; the boughs may fold in and the leaves, several thousand in number, may fold individually.

My partner says that this leaf-unfolding business is a weak point. He thinks that when the picnickers, on pleasure bent, have unfolded a few dozen or so of the leaves, they will leave the rest un-unfolded, and I tell him that if they do that, it will only show that they are humbugs and that they do not really love trees as much as they try to make out they do.

These trees will have some resemblance to the trees of our nursery days—the ones we used to put into our mouths and suck—only these trees, being from eight to twenty feet in height, will be much too large for any picniker to put into the mouth and suck, even in a fit of abstraction. The smallest tree, about eight feet, will be light and

1ST RUTLAND TROOP

"Do A Good Turn Daily"

There will be no meetings of the Troop until the third week of October, unless specially called.

Friday last saw the boys returning from a very enjoyable eight days in camp at "Ku-lil-ow-uh," near Okanagan Centre. The weather was good throughout, the only complaint in that regard being the prevalence of high winds in the evening, forcing us to forego the pleasure of a camp fire on the two last nights in camp.

On Tuesday evening we had a visit from the District Commissioner, Mr. E. C. Weddell, and Scoutmaster Laidlaw and three Scouts of the 1st Kelowna Troop. The visitors arrived just after supper, and after inspecting the camp, attended the camp fire when we all enjoyed a varied programme, followed by hot coffee and cake. A.S.M. Harrison acting as chef, while A.S.M. Campbell starred as song leader.

While in camp a good deal of work was done on Scout tests. The following is a list of these, with the names of the successful Scouts:

Tenderfoot Tests
Scout Law and Promise: Kermit Eutin (Kangaroos), Arthur Wigglesworth (Beavers).
Scout Signs and Salute: K. Eutin (Kangaroos).
Uses of the Scout Staff: Arthur Wigglesworth (Beaver).

Tracking: J. Muggford (K.).
Compass (16 points): M. Soames (K.).
Signalling (semaphore): M. Soames (K.).

The following completed their Tenderfoot tests and were invested while in camp: Arthur and Alfred Wigglesworth and Maurice Soames.
Two Scouts, Second Class J. Muggford and Andrew Duncan, completed their Second Class and were presented with their badges.

The patrol competition was won by the Kangaroos, the final standing being:

	Points
Kangaroos	405
Beavers	327

The camp was taken over in the afternoon of Friday, July 25th, by the Girl Guides, under Mrs. T. G. Chambers.

We are indebted to Messrs. H. Gervais, A. Duncan and V. D. Lewis for assistance with transportation to camp and to Messrs. H. L. Lagneaux, H. Latta and A. S. Mills for transportation on the return journey. To Mr. H. B. Kennard, of "The Hermitage," Okanagan Centre, we owe a special debt of gratitude for assistance in connection with camp and for a liberal supply of home-made ginger beer!

A. W. GRAY, Scoutmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hartley and daughter Rita, of Sarnia, Ontario, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ford.

The 1st Rutland Company of Girl Guides went to Okanagan Centre on Friday last for a week's camping on the lake shore under the leadership of Mrs. T. G. S. Chambers. The Guides are planning to hold a garden party on Mrs. Ben Hardie's lawn shortly after their return from camp. Details of this will be found in the Announcement Column.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Harrison, of Sunderland, England, are spending a visit of some months at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. John Reid, at Reid's Corners.

Only 205 out of the 270 voters on the list exercised their franchise at the poll on Monday last. The majority for Grote Stirling was 101.

Congratulations are being showered upon Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Petch upon the arrival of twins (a boy and a girl) on Monday evening.

Two baseball games have taken place during the past week. On Sunday the seniors, minus a couple of good players, met defeat at the hands of a team from Canoe by 20 runs to 6. The game was one-sided throughout. Rutland used four hurlers without avail, the Shuswap boys hammering them all hard.

Score by innings:
Canoe ..... 1 4 0 2 4 0 1 4—20
Rutland ..... 0 1 0 0 1 1 2 0 1—6
Batteries: Bach, A. Kitsch, T. Kitsch, McLeod, F. Kirsch, Graf.

On Tuesday evening the juniors met a Kelowna nine here and won out by 13 to 11 in a rather ragged game. Batteries were: Kelowna: Burnham, Saunders and Wardlaw; Rutland: Fisher, Alexander and Graf.

A return game with Canoe is planned for Sunday next and it is expected that gaps in the Rutland line-up will be filled from Oyama.

Mrs. M. Jervis left recently for Tranquille, where she will join the nursing staff of the Sanatorium.

their old loves (the real leaves) for the new (factory-made ones), there being doubtless with zephyrs, as with humans, nothing more delightful than the whispering of old lies into men's ears. (These chuckling, scandal-loving leaves need not be supplied with the "Picnic" model, for the poor zephyrs would never stand the ghost of a chance with all the cackling going on underneath.) Some tree-trunks might have especially selected bark suitable for sweetheart-initial carving; some boughs might be "gnarled," and I have already thought out a process which will enable the tree-makers to "gnarl" boughs to a nicety. I wish that space permitted me to enlarge upon this idea—but it doesn't.

OKANAGAN CROPS SUFFER LITTLE FROM HEAT

But Soil Moisture Conditions May Present Problem Within Next Two Weeks

(From the fortnightly report of the Horticultural Branch, Provincial Department of Agriculture, Vernon.)

Vernon, July 26, 1930.
Vancouver Island & Gulf Islands,
July 23

The weather continues warm and dry. Loganberries are in full swing and heavy pickings are going to the wineries each day; canneries received the early fruit and the peak is not yet reached. Raspberries will finish up shortly. The first Olivet cherries were picked today and the crop is going to the canneries and jam factories. Apples and pears are sizing well.

Salmon Arm, Sorrento and Main Line
Points, July 24

Temperatures have run high during the past two weeks and there has been very little rainfall. Ground crops on the lighter soils are beginning to show the effect of the hot spell.

Wherever any degree of root injury occurred last winter fruit trees are showing the effect of the heat, and a good deal of small sized fruit will result. Early varieties of apples, however, are sizing fairly well to date. Fire Blight has given little trouble so far, and the crop is generally clean.

Olivet and Morello cherries are beginning to come in, and a few things are still moving. Raspberries and loganberries started off well, but the hot weather has hit them hard and they are likely to "tail off" quickly. They are now about at the "peak." A few strawberries are still coming in but this week will see the finish of the shipping season.

The prospects are for a short season for tomatoes. The plants are making good growth but the weather is warmer, but no quantity of semi-ripe will be moving from the Thompson Valley for some time yet.

Vernon, Armstrong, Okanagan Centre,
Oyama, July 24

Weather conditions remain clear and hot, and although we have had an odd cloudy spell in the last two weeks, no rain has resulted. So far no crops are suffering from lack of moisture, although, with the possibility of irrigating supplies giving out within the next week, conditions will give concern to all growers if rains do not fall with the next two weeks, as soil moisture conditions as far as reserve moisture is concerned are not of the best.

All fruits are sizing well and Duchesse apples will shortly be going out as green cookers. Transcendent crabs should be ready for movement by the middle of August, and in the stone fruits peach plums will shortly be moving from the earliest orchards. At this date there is no evidence which warrants a change in our present estimates, but conditions over the next month will be the deciding factor as to ultimate yields. In small fruits, the black currant crop is now harvested and has fallen far short of expectations, the set having apparently been affected by the spring weather conditions, being poor and the fruit not sizing well. The continued hot weather has had an adverse effect upon the raspberry sections of Armstrong, and much of the fruit has been sun-scalded, which promises to reduce the yield nearly one-third.

Kelowna, July 24

The weather during the past two weeks has been hot and dry. Where plenty of soil moisture is available, crops have made rapid progress but show the effect of the heat on light soils short of water.

Cucumbers, a few semi-ripe tomatoes, and other early crops are moving out. Cherries are over, and early apples are being shipped. There is a fairly heavy movement of mixed cars made up of local produce, celery from Armstrong, and soft fruits from the South. The canneries are working on beans.

NO MERGER FOR KELLOGG COMPANY

Reports Of Alliance With Other Firms Are Not True

An emphatic denial of reports that the Kellogg Company, leading manufacturer of Corn Flakes and other famous cereal foods, is contemplating alliance with other firms in the food industry has been issued by Mr. W. K. Kellogg, chairman of the Board of Directors. He says in part:

"I wish to state with the utmost emphasis possible that all such reports are absolutely without foundation. The Kellogg Company is not now and never has been for sale."

"We have at various times, of course, received flattering offers from both related and unrelated lines of business. We in the Kellogg Company, however, have spent many years in perfecting our line of products and in establishing the reputation these products enjoy. We are not interested either in associating these products with unrelated lines or in submerging any part of the prestige that has been built up by the Kellogg Company."

"Furthermore, we hold strongly to the belief that healthy competition between large and solidly established firms is the best possible means for assuring the public increasing returns in quality and service."

"The soundness of these principles and the wisdom of the greatly expanded manufacturing and merchandising programmes we launched at the beginning of the year in the face of the general spirit of depression have been confirmed by the volume of business we have done during the first half of 1930."

indications, he applied between the 30th of July and the 9th of August. Where infestation is heavy, one spray about the 30th, followed by another in from ten to twelve days, is advised.

Sumnerland, Peachland, Naramata,
Westbank, July 23

The weather remains hot and dry, but notwithstanding this trying condition orchard trees are looking well and the crop is getting a good size. There is some sun-scald on apples. Irrigation water supply is being drawn from reserve dams in all sections.

Early peaches and Transcendent apples are beginning to move, also a few Duchesse are going out as green apples. Peach plums and Triumph peaches will be ready in about 10 days. The tomato and cucumber crops are still slow in ripening, but larger shipments are expected by the end of the month.

Penticton, Kaledon, Oliver, Keremeos,
July 23

For the past two weeks the weather has been very warm and dry. Moisture conditions are at present satisfactory and this district is now drawing on storage water.

Apricots and early apples are coming in in quantity, and cherries are about cleaned up. In the Oliver district apricots will be pretty well finished this week. Tomatoes, cucumbers and early apples are making up the bulk of the crop. From present indications, a few cantaloupes will start about the beginning of August.

General Conditions In Okanagan

The present apple crop prospects in the Okanagan from the best information indicates a decrease of 23% over 1929 and a decrease of 23% over 1928, 10%. As to the prospects for the leading varieties this year as compared to that of 1929 the following increases or decreases give a fair idea of their standing. Increases: McIntosh, 40%; Wagner, 35%; Jonathan, 30%; Rome Beauty, 10%; Yellow Newtown, 10%; Winesap, 5%. Decreases: Stayman Winesap, 10%; Delicious, 3%; Wealthy, 5%; Duchesse, 15%.

Pears and stone fruits are sizing well and former crop forecasts will be well maintained. Vegetable crops are looking well. Many early potatoes have been shipped; the demand and the lowered price has caused a cessation in the movement. Tomatoes and cucumbers are coming in and cantaloupes are expected by the first of next month.

Weather conditions continue very warm and dry, which is excellent for harvesting. Soil moisture conditions at present are good but late crops will undoubtedly suffer before the end of the season. The irrigation storage supply in the Vernon section is almost completely gone, while reservoirs in many

BENVOULIN

During the month of August worship at the Benvoulin Church will be held at 9:45 a.m., with Church School at 11. Next Sunday, worship will be led by the young people of the congregation. Rev. A. McMillan is absent on a holiday and will be away for four weeks.

The Women's Association will meet at the residence of Mrs. S. McFarlane, on August 5th. The President, Mrs. Archie Hardy, will take charge of the devotions. Subject: "The Fruits of the Spirit." Please be on time, at 3 p.m.

Mr. T. Murray and Mr. J. McEachern and family left by motor for Vancouver on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamison, of Spring Water, Sask., called on the McEachern family on Saturday, on their way to Vancouver.

Election day is over and we hope that every one found out where they had to vote.

Other sections are becoming pretty low. Orchards and crops on the heavier soils which have been well soaked and have a good much will pull through satisfactorily, whereas on some of the lighter soils the trees will suffer consequential loss in tonnage. This condition may seriously affect the present estimates as to crop in some sections.

There is also a considerable amount of drought injury showing up in some orchards which may also affect present forecasts. Fruits are very clean as far as pests are concerned this year, and the size and colour are very good.

Kootenay and Arrow Lakes, July 22nd

The weather has been very warm for the past two weeks, and there has been no rain since the first of July. Soil moisture conditions are still fairly good and growers are now keeping all crops well irrigated where water can be obtained. The weather has been ideal for haymaking and a very heavy crop of timothy and clover has been put up. Some of the first cutting of alfalfa was damaged by the late rains in June, but the second crop is coming in in good shape and will be ready to cut by the end of the month.

The strawberry crop is over and the production was very light. Prices were better, but with such a light crop returns to the growers have been quite disappointing. Raspberries are moving in quantities and the fruit is of excellent quality and a very heavy crop in sight.

Cherry picking has just started, except in the early section, and a very light crop of Bing and Royal Annes is being harvested. Lamberts are much better and many of the trees have a normal crop. Size and quality of the fruit are very good and a very excellent pack is being put up.

Apples have dropped heavily and with some very bad in many sections the crop is going to be much lighter than the July estimate. The drop has continued longer than usual and Drought Spot is also showing up. These conditions have made it very difficult to estimate the crop.

Creston Valley, July 22nd

On the 19th inst., the Valley experienced a steady rain for several hours and all crops were greatly benefited. Since that date the weather has been hot and sultry and growth is advancing rapidly.

Bing cherries are about over, the Lamberts are coming in rapidly and the end of the week should find them cleaned up in this section. Due to ample moisture conditions during the month of June, the crop was of excellent size and quality and exceeded expectations. Montmorencies and Morellos are moving and Olivets will follow by the end of the month.

Raspberries are still coming in strong but by the end of the month receipts should sharply decline.

Where no root injury was experienced the orchards are looking in splendid condition. Moisture surface conditions up to the present have been good, although the subsoil is still deficient where no irrigation is available. Growers are still thinning and many report the presence of Scab. The month of June, being wet and sultry, was very favourable for the growth and spread of Apple Scab spores.

Pears are sizing rapidly and are very free from blight. Pear Blight is not so prevalent as last year, growers having reported only a few isolated infections. The size of crop is at present good and should average better than last year.

Tomatoes are sizing rapidly and early in August light shipments should commence from the upper benches around Erickson. A heavy yield is expected as plants are vigorous and have ample moisture supply.

Irrigation water from Arrow Creek was available to growers in the Erickson area on the 20th of the month, and this should ensure a more general increase in size of fruit throughout the area.

Grand Forks, July 21

The district is experiencing the heat wave which is general over the Interior of the Province at the present time. Irrigation water is being applied in all sections of the Valley and field crops continue to make good growth. The hot weather has brought about the corn very rapidly and it is showing up very well at present. Early potatoes are still moving to market in considerable quantities. The yield has not been heavy but the quality is good. Prices have been comparatively good for the early crop.

Apples are sizing up well, and seem to be free from Apple Scab. Codling Moth injury, etc. Duchesse and Yellow Transparents are moving for cooking purposes. Yellow Transparents are smaller than usual. Thinning has been completed.

Raspberries are still moving and the crop has been fairly good, although the heat has dried the berries up on the bushes during the past few days.

Purchase of an X-ray machine for Enderby Hospital has been made, and it is believed that it will be installed in about a month.

PROPHETIC UTTERANCES REAL TEST OF BIBLE

Pastor N. C. Erntson Reconciles World History With The Scriptures

The Chautauque Tent was filled with attentive listeners Sunday night to hear Pastor N. C. Erntson give his first lecture. The subject was, "Why the Kaiser could not take Paris in 1917. Why the rulers of Europe inter-marry."

The speaker reviewed the history of the four universal powers namely—Babylon, Media-Persia, Greece and Rome. The Pastor continued by saying, "The real test of the Bible is its prophetic utterances. In Daniel, chapter two, we have the prediction of just four universal powers that were to rule the world. Our histories as studied in our High Schools give us the record of fulfilling prophecy. Rome was to divide into just ten kingdoms as suggested by the ten toes of the image. History supports this prophecy by giving us the story of Western Rome breaking up into ten kingdoms."

"As day and iron will not cleave one to another so the kingdoms of Europe will never unite is the prophecy. It has been tried at different times. Napoleon fought the battle of Waterloo with the idea of uniting them in one empire but failed. The Kaiser also had a dream of World supremacy but was not successful. In Dan. 2, verse 43, we have the reason for the crowned heads of Europe inter-marrying. It was Canute of Denmark who first thought of uniting Europe in this way. But when the war started in 1914 relations were not considered."

"So we find one verse of scripture with five lines in it is mightier than all the armies of the world. You need never fear of being mistaken if you have a 'thus saith the Lord.' Jesus said in John 14: 20, 'I have told you before it came to pass, that when it is come to pass, ye may believe.' God gives us facts on which to base our faith. No room for doubt."

Meetings are held every night except Monday. Next Sunday the subject will be, "Will the nations disarm?" The public is invited.

USE OF SALT IN HAY CURING

(Experimental Farms Note)

Salt has been used in hay curing in some districts for many years. The Dominion Experimental Farm at Nappan, Nova Scotia, has conducted a series of experiments since 1926 in order to determine, if possible, the value of such a practice. The procedure was as follows:

A field of good quality mixed hay was cut as soon as the dew was off. One section was tedded and raked into windrow the same day and put up in two-ton stacks the following day. The stacks were treated with salt at the rates of 10, 20 and 30 pounds per ton and one stack was left untreated as a check.

The balance of the field was tedded the day after cutting and part was stacked from windrow the third day and the balance the fourth day. Each day's stacking was treated as outlined above. Another series of stacks was put up with hay that had received some rain after being partially dry.

The general results obtained during the four tests were as follows:—

1. Hay stacked the day after cutting kept fairly well when salted 20 to 30 pounds per ton. Ten pounds of salt per ton aided materially in preventing the development of moulds, but did not appear sufficient.

2. Hay stacked on the second day after cutting, (or on the third day) was similar in quality to that stacked the previous day. A slight amount of mould developed in the untreated stacks.

3. Hay stacked on the fourth day was dried up to such an extent that the hay removed from all the stacks lacked the green colour noticeable in the treated hay from the other lots.

4. This was stacked while there was still some rain water in it and treated the same as the other lots. The results from the rain-drenched series were not conclusive. The salt apparently did not have the same effect as it did on the partly dry hay that had not been damaged by rain.

Feeding tests showed that when fed to steers receiving 30 to 40 pounds of turnips daily, the hay treated with 30 pounds of salt induced scouring to a considerable extent. With dairy cows this was not quite so noticeable. To summarize, it was found that hay could be put up in two or three ton stacks very satisfactorily after it had received at least ten hours good drying in the sun, when treated with 20 pounds of finely ground salt, thereby preserving its colour and succulence. These various treatments also demonstrated that it was essential to have the free moisture fairly well dried out before hay could be stored in large quantities. Further work will be required to determine the degree of curing necessary to permit one to store hay in the barn in large quantities with safety.

However, these tests do indicate that it is not necessary to have the hay bleached and dried out to the point that it has lost its colour and succulence, when salt is properly used. A little care in applying the salt is important. The salt should be finely ground and evenly spread throughout the mow or stack, if satisfactory results are to be obtained, and from the data collected to date, it is considered that 20 pounds per ton is the proper amount to use.

Shortly before the Australian cricket team left for England, seeking to win the famous "Ashes," one of its players became the father of a baby daughter. So as soon as the team reached London, the anxious parent called his home in Sydney and asked eager questions about the baby.

Although the cricketer was 12,000 miles away from his wife and child, the telephone was at his disposal to assure him that all was well at home.

In all, eight members of the Australian party talked to relatives and friends at home by way of the new England-Australia telephone service.

PORTFOLIO FOR YALE
While, in the eyes of the faithful, the electors of Vancouver went seeking after strange gods and, believing that the Mackenzie King administration was to be sustained, flopped over to Liberalism in order to be for once on the winning side and threw out ruthlessly of their Conservative representatives of many years service, Yale remained constant to the political faith it espoused twenty-two years ago, when Duncan Ross met defeat at the hands of Martin Burrell. The strong assault launched by the capable Liberal candidate failed to make a dint of more than a few hundred votes in the huge majority of Grote Stirling, which, as in 1926, apparently is over the three thousand mark. The fact that Yale did not yield to the influences that seriously weakened the Conservative hold upon British Columbia should weigh for much when selection is made of a cabinet representative for the province, besides the personal merit and ability of its chosen representative.

Hon. Martin Burrell was a practical fruit grower and during his tenure of the portfolio of Agriculture much was done to foster and encourage horticulture. He was transferred, however, to another department, and for the past thirteen years the portfolio of Agriculture has been held by Ministers who had but slight personal knowledge of fruit culture, their interests being concerned with livestock, grain and general farming.

Besides being an outstanding example of Conservative loyalty, Yale has easily brought more honour to Canada for fruit than any other section of the Dominion, through triumphs at the Imperial Fruit Show and on many other occasions, and this in itself deserves recognition.

But, discounting even these manifest claims, the personality of the member-elect for Yale in itself is warrant enough for his appointment to the new Cabinet. A fruit grower himself, he has never missed any feasible opportunity to press the claims of the industry in which he is so keenly interested, and he has always been able to present his arguments in a manner that commanded attention from the House. Crisp and terse of speech, but with a happy facility of expression, his remarks are always followed with interest, as he never speaks without having something worth while to say. His sympathies are wide and he does not concentrate upon horticulture alone as the interest nearest to his heart. Any other industry in his constituency or further afield has always enjoyed his loyal support and willing assistance.

In addition to his intellectual ability, a charming feature about Grote Stirling is that there is no political animosity in his make-up. He recognizes that people must needs differ in their political ideas and that there is no sense or reason in bitterness between neighbours and friends because of their respective party allegiance. Opponents have always found him helpful in any public matter, and his ideals of public service rise high above the plane of mere partyism. Few representatives are held in such general regard and respect by all shades of opinion.

If Hon. R. B. Bennett sees fit to summon the member for Yale to his cabinet as Minister of Agriculture, he could not make a better or wiser choice.

We suspect that some of the opposition to the B. C. fruit and vegetable pools grows out of the fact that it's easier to oppose the idea than to understand the details.

Among other places reporting large increases in population is the underworld.

And then there's the affliction that they can't do anything about—athlete's brains.

SIR G. E. POSTER SPEAKS BEFORE SERVICE CLUBS

he considered that it was far better that one party should have a clear majority.
It was too hot for a lecture, as it was not possible to be logical on a night like that, so he was not going to attempt any oratory other than to endeavour to make his audience understand his subject clearly. The object of his address was a worthy one, he thought. We were a very busy people and this was a very busy world, and things that happened were unimportant, yet it seemed as though every "darned" thing that happened was brought to the attention of the people, and it was a pity that it was so. He denounced the sensationalism of the daily press, which dished up crime in print and picture upon the breakfast table, and he considered that the publicity so given had a most deleterious effect upon youth and was responsible for influence towards wrongdoing. In the rush of innumerable events and the flood of sensationalism many things were forgotten that should be remembered, and he would endeavour to bring some of them back to their recollection.
A Great Change Since The War
The average man seemed to be under the impression that the nations of the world were still carrying on much the same as they did before the Great War, but the reverse was the case. A great change had taken place along the lines of countries working in harmony and peace, of which every one should be apprised and assess it at its proper value. There were three particularly momentous years since the war, 1920, 1928 and 1930, to which he would refer. If they went back into days long before the Great War as far as history would permit and even beyond to the remoulded history that abided in the remains of great cities, they would find one great underlying truth—that the march of humanity had been upon a constant ascent from lower to better things. In primitive days disputes between individuals and nations were settled by brute force, but as enlightenment came individuals and corporations submitted their quarrels to right and wrong—to arbitration by courts. Above the line of the individual, progress was certain and wonderful, and individual, corporate and national humanity had come to that level where disputes were settled by courts of law.

During the upward movement, however, from the primitive, nations had been formed and had proceeded upon another basis in regard to international disputes. Up to the time of the Great War it was recognized that if two nations fell out over boundaries or other matters, no other nation had a right to interfere. Kings, rulers, diplomats settled many of such disputes, but when a certain point in the controversy was reached armies and navies stood back and let the disputants fight it out.

What Happened In 1920
In 1920, fifty-four nations of the world came together and signed a solemn covenant embodying the principle that war was the last thing to be invoked in settling a dispute and that every nation was interested in any international quarrel, as each stood to suffer by a war. The covenant imposed upon each of the fifty-four nations as a duty, if it saw any trouble arising between two countries, to call it to the attention of the League of Nations and prevent war. Every nation, therefore, had the right to counsel peace and avert war.

The nations thus, after many years, had reached the same plane as individuals and corporations in regard to settlement of disputes, and they had come up, he believed, to stay.

What Happened In 1928
Again, something happened in 1928. The United States and three or four less important countries had not entered the League of Nations, but in that year a treaty unparalleled in the history of the human race took place. M. Briand, of France, made a proposal to the President of the United States that the latter country and France should enter into a treaty never to go to war on any dispute that might ever arise between them. Every dispute would have to be settled by means other than war. The U. S. Secretary of State, Mr. Kellogg, a lover of peace, said the proposal did not go quite far enough and suggested that all the nations of the world make treaties with each other that they would never resort to war in settlement of quarrels. M. Briand immediately agreed to the larger idea, and negotiations were commenced, with the result that in August, 1928, fifteen nations signed such a treaty. Then those fifteen nations invited all the other nations of the world, and all the other nations of the world, with the exception of two or three, had signed the treaty, numbering about sixty-two in all.

In 1920, fifty-four nations had agreed not to go to war except as the last extremity. In 1928, practically all the nations of the world obligated themselves never to go to war and to find out by arbitration or other peaceful process means of settling disputes with other nations.

There were doubters, of course. What would the world be without doubters? There would be doubters if it would last at the Millennium. The terrible civil strife in China might be queried by doubters as an example of dispeace in the world. But what were the facts?

Since 1920 no two nations that had covenanted under the League of Nations had gone to war with one another. So that for ten years the compact had held tight. He admitted that war had been near on several occasions, between Italy and Greece, for instance, but the League, through its methods, had brought the countries together without war, and many other disputes had been settled amicably through the League.

What Happened In 1930
Then, something further happened in 1930. If all the volumes of history were put together, never such a momentous thing could be shown as had happened in London, when five great powers met together for the purpose of stopping the race of competition in naval armaments, with the ultimate aim of diminishing armaments, thus also diminishing the incentives to war and relieving the intolerable burden upon the people of naval expenditures. Representatives of the countries came to an agreement between Great Britain, the United States and Japan by which naval armament was limited to a certain proportion between the nations, and provision was made for the adherence of France and Italy at a future date. The agreement was reached after frank discussion of difficulties and of the possibilities of war.

What had happened in those three momentous years had run along the same lines of abandonment of war and exaltation of peace—a mighty advance!

Machinery For Carrying Out Treaties
It was a fine thing to come to the conclusion that wars must cease and that naval armaments must cease, but unless machinery was provided for action, the desired good effects would not be produced. The League of Nations had provided the machinery. First, there was the Assembly of the League, representing fifty-four nations, which met in committees and in full session for three or four weeks at a time, with heads of governments passing in and out, eating and drinking with each other, learning the difficulties of the nations and forming friendships that were lasting. Such intercourse could not be valued too highly.

After the Assembly finished its work it left behind it a Council of fourteen members—to deal with matters that might arise from time to time, while a permanent secretariat, composed of six hundred of the best trained and most efficient civil servants to be found in the world, carried on the secretarial and scientific work, working not for their own countries but for the League of Nations. Over all was the International Tribunal constituted by the League in 1921.

There had been criticism of the composition of the International Tribunal, and it had been claimed that it must fail, but the record of the Tribunal had been one of complete success. In all, it had dealt with forty-four cases, some of them in an advisory capacity, but in seventeen of them actually disputes between countries. In every one of those cases the decision had been respected, and not one country had impugned a judgment of the Tribunal.

The Council of the League was always ready to act upon short notice and had settled many disputes. If in 1914, when war was on the tapis, there had been a League of Nations, the Council of which could have called together fourteen representatives of the principal countries of the world, there would likely have been no Great War.

It was the duty of all to think about the great international problem of peace and to support the League of Nations in their work, for, should war come after all, it would be a conflict of unspakable horror, before which the Great War would pale into insignificance. Great advances had been made in the study of means of war during the past ten years, and it would be as though the heavens from air vessels travelling at 150 miles an hour, belching out poison gases and death not upon armies but upon the people in peaceful towns and hamlets far behind the war front. In fact, science, by dint of the sheer horror of it, was rendering war impossible. Another feature was the enormous expense involved in carrying on war. No nation could wage war now without a tremendous bank account. Another fact restrictive of the materials for war, and possessed by nations in the League of Nations were bound not to supply any materials to other countries for use in combat. Again, another very powerful factor was the general and pervasive growth of public opinion against war

On behalf of the Gyro Club, Mr. J. Pettigrew, President, joined in the appreciation and tribute paid by Mr. Norris.
Upon the suggestion of Mr. Black, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung, which was followed by three lusty cheers and a tiger for Sir George, and the proceedings then concluded with the National Anthem.

EDMONTON GRADS HERE NEXT MONDAY

Keen Demand From All Parts Of Valley For Seats

The long anticipated appearance of the world famous Edmonton Grads, the world's greatest basketball team, will take place in the Scout Hall on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock. Applications for seats have come in from all over the country side, and it is expected there will be a great influx of people from most points in the valley to see this super team in action.

Without doubt they are the most colourful aggregation of girl athletes ever assembled. Organized in 1914, they won their first provincial championship the following year; in 1922 they won their first Canadian title, and in 1923 they defeated the champions of the United States to win the International championship, which they have defended successfully ever since. In 1924, and again in 1928, they went to Europe, won every game played, and were awarded the world's championship.

Over a period of fifteen years, with a constantly changing personnel, the Grads, in defence of their various titles, have played 341 games and have been successful on 324 occasions, including a present run of seventy-six consecutive wins. A remarkable record for a remarkable team.

Percy Page, the coach, and possibly Mrs. Page, will accompany the team here. Doors will open at 7.30 and tickets will be given to ticket holders up to within fifteen minutes of the start, after which general admission will be charged. It should be pointed out that only a small proportion of the seating accommodation has been reserved, therefore a large number of excellent seats will be available.

The Grads will arrive by C.N. train on Monday afternoon. They will be officially welcomed by Mayor D. H. Rattenbury and representatives of the Board of Trade, Rotary and Gyro Clubs. Citizens are invited to turn out and assist in giving them a royal welcome to the Okanagan. It is understood that they will proceed from here to Seattle and San Francisco, Kelowna being the only city in British Columbia privileged to entertain the famous athletes. On Monday afternoon, the team will be taken on a sight-seeing tour, which will conclude at the home of Mr. B. McDonald, at the home of Mr. B. McDonald.

It is probable that a Kelowna girls' team will meet the Edmonton Grads in the first half, followed by a selected boys' team in the second half. Bill Chater, regular coach of the local girls' team, is expected from the Coast for the occasion.

No team of athletes has focussed so much publicity upon any country as the Edmonton Grads have upon Canada. Kelownans, in their own inimitable sportsmanlike manner, will give the famous girls a traditional welcome.

Miss Mollie Thompson, of Okanagan Mission, has been awarded the I.O.D.E. Scholarship, an award made annually for proficiency to a student of the Kelowna High School by the Jack McMillan Chapter of the I.O.D.E. Miss Thompson, who is only 17 years of age, completed her third year at High School, is to be congratulated, as the award is invariably won by a student who has received his Senior Matriculation.

It has been the established rule of the Courier for many years to ignore anonymous letters and to publish only those that comply with the requirements that the signature of the writer must appear in print. Familiar as this rule should be by this time, it becomes necessary at times to bring it to the attention of contributors of letters for publication, and it will explain the absence from this issue of a communication from "A Kelowna Resident."

Major C. E. Wain, of Kamloops, well-known to many veterans who passed through the depot of the 102nd Regt., R.M.R., at Kamloops during the war, as O.C. after the late Lieut. Col. J. R. Vickers undertook the raising of the 172nd Battalion, C.E.F., is a guest at the Lakeview Hotel. He is engaged in the raising of an engine and pump at Ecclestone Slough for the Glenmore Irrigation District, which is expected to be ready for work in a day or two.

Mr. Jacob Biely, of the Department of Poultry Husbandry, University of British Columbia, Vancouver, spent a couple of days in town last week, being a guest at the Royal Anne. He is engaged in research into diseases of poultry and some of the results of his work have already proved of great value in arresting the spread of epidemics amongst large flocks. Mr. Biely, who is a naturalized Russian, has had a remarkable academic career. Born in Siberia, he came to British Columbia nine years ago as a High School student, being unable to complete his education in his own country owing to its disturbed political condition. He entered the University of British Columbia, although able to speak very little English, and, owing to this handicap, he came to grief in his first year of Arts, failing in his examinations. Undaunted, he transferred to the Faculty of Agriculture, graduating four years later with honours, and he now possesses three academic degrees, including B.S.A., M.S.A., and M.Sc., and proposes shortly to proceed to the Ph.D. He now speaks perfect academic English, with only a slight occasional foreign intonation. Surely an example of perseverance under adverse circumstances that should put to shame some of our own young people who complain of the difficulty of their studies!

Summerland is to have the talkies. Last week the management of Rialto Theatre decided to make their screen talk, consequently they purchased what is called a "film track orchestral phone" machine. The theatre will be closed for a week or two while the change is being made.

Mr. A. G. Duncan, popular Manager of the Armstrong branch of the Bank of Montreal for the past three years, has been transferred to the West Summerland branch, where he will assume management shortly. No appointment has yet been announced for Armstrong.

MARRIAGE

Speirs—Campbell

The United Church Manse was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday, at 3 p.m., when Miss Eva Campbell, of Balmudie Farm, Lumball, Glasgow, James Speirs, formerly of Duchal Mains, Kilmacool, Glasgow, Rev. Dr. Wilson performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends.

Mr. A. Manson supported the groom, while Mrs. Arthur, of East Kelowna, attended the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Spurrier.

The happy young couple will reside in the Kelowna district.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Helen Dunnett

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Helen Dunnett, of Cawston, who passed away on Wednesday, July 23rd, at the residence of her son, Mr. A. C. Dunnett, Harvey Avenue, was held on Friday, at 11 a.m., from the residence to the Kelowna Cemetery, the Rev. A. McMillan officiating.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. W. D. Lang and S. Manery, of Cawston; Messrs. W. Lloyd-Jones, G. S. McKenzie, E. W. Ferguson and G. A. Meikle, of Kelowna.

The late Mrs. Dunnett was born in Whithy, Ontario, seventy-nine years ago, the fourth daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McGowan, of Scotland. With her family, she lived at Whithy until they removed to Granton, Ontario, where she was married to the late Mr. W. J. Dunnett. With her husband, she resided at Becton, Ontario, for a short time, moving later to North Toronto, where they lived for over twenty years. They came west to Indian Head, Sask., in 1908, and in 1920 they settled at Cawston, the late Mrs. Dunnett, who had been in ill health for some months, coming from there to Kelowna shortly before her death.

All her life deceased was an ardent follower of the Presbyterian faith, being one of the first members of the North Toronto Eglinton Presbyterian Church. She was an enthusiastic worker in both home and foreign missionary societies there.

She is survived by one daughter, Miss Elizabeth J. Dunnett, of Cawston, and one son, Mr. A. C. Dunnett, of this city.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Helen Dunnett wish to thank their many kind friends for their help and kindly expressions of sympathy, also for the many lovely floral tributes sent at the time of their bereavement. 51-1p

JACK TARS GO THROUGH PAGES AT BISLEY

In the contest for the Hamilton Leigh Challenge Cup at Bisley each team had to surmount three obstacles during a run of 100 yards before shooting at the targets. The picture shows the H.M.S. Vivid team getting through the rope entanglements and, judging by the effort necessary to accomplish this, it must have been a hard proposition.

AYRSHIRES MAKE GOOD SHOWING FOR BEEF

Famous Dairy Breed Productive Of Meat As Well As Milk

That Ayrshire cattle must be considered as meat producers as well as for their famous dairy qualities was clearly demonstrated at a recent show and sale of fat stock at Ayr, Scotland, when two Ayrshire heifers took first and second place respectively.

The first prize-winner, 23 months old, was bred by Mrs. Young, Southside, Troon. Her live weight was 1,484 lbs. (unfasted), and the net carcass 946 lbs., thus dressing 63.74 per cent. The second prize-winner, bred by Mr. McKerrrow, Craikland, Troon, scaled 1,372 lbs. alive, and dressed 882 lbs., equal to 64.21 per cent. Both animals were fed by Mr. J. K. Bone, Monktonhill, Monkton. They were brought and slaughtered by Park Bros., butchers, Troon, who report the carcasses as being of exceptional quality and full of lean meat, altogether ideal butcher's animals.

These heifers were reared from stock and wintered in the ordinary way. In the summer they got nothing but grass until they were put up in September to feed for exhibition and they were sold on December 17th.

The grand-dam of the first won third prize in the milking trials at the London Dairy show of 1923, and was one of the group of six Ayrshire cows which won the Bledisloe Trophy in that year. Her record for 1923 was 1,224 gallons at 3.73 per cent, in 44 weeks, 4 days. The dam of the second was a heavy milker but never was recorded.

Although the Ayrshire does not lay claim to be a dual purpose breed, the results quoted above surely demonstrate that it can produce both milk and beef. These two heifers made £51 and £45 respectively, while an Ayrshire bullock, which weighed 1,288 lbs., made £44. Six Ayrshire bullocks averaged £42 apiece, while the sixteen heifers and bullocks brought an average of £40.58.

Chilliwack is not lagging behind other cities in air-mindedness. That city has a landing field already registered by the government as a private commercial airport. It is located on private property two miles from the centre of the city, and the construction of a hangar is to be commenced immediately. Chilliwack is also considering the formation of an Aero Club.

***** TWENTY YEARS AGO *****

(From the files of "The Kelowna Courier")

Thursday, July 28th, 1910

"The new C.P.R. light draught steamer for service on the Okanagan River and Lower Okanagan Lake was launched last week at the Landing and passed Kelowna on her way south on Tuesday. She is not an imposing craft in appearance, as she has no sleeping accommodation for passengers, and her deck-houses accordingly appear dumpy, but she will prove of great value in the development of the southern Okanagan." (This vessel was the "Kaledon.") As a matter of fact, the attempt to provide a regular transportation service on the Okanagan River proved a failure, principally due to difficulties of navigation caused by shifting sandbars in the bed of the stream.)

"Work on the new grand-stand for the Kelowna Aquatic Association, Ltd., is progressing apace under the direction of the contractor, Mr. H. W. Raymer. The structure will be both commodious and sightly, seating about 800 people, and its erection should remove a standing drawback hitherto to the success of previous regattas—the lack of shade for spectators from the blazing August sunshine."

Falling overboard from his boat while presumably endeavouring to recover an oar during a violent squall on the afternoon of July 21st, Mr. J. W. Wilks, a well-known and popular resident of Kelowna, met his death by drowning, about two hundred yards off Manhattan Point. Dragging operations were carried on for three days but the body was not recovered. Mr. Wilks was a pianist of much skill, and his musical services were in constant demand at concerts, dances and other entertainments.

In the Okanagan Mission Notes it is stated that building operations were in progress on the new Anglican church at the Mission.

History repeats itself. Twenty years ago a fierce forest fire was raging on both sides of Cedar Creek and up the mountain side, miles of country being involved. The men fighting it had succeeded in keeping the outbreaks within certain limits and were doing their utmost to prevent it from spreading and creating fresh havoc, when a mighty wind arose, uprooting large trees in its fury and fanning the smouldering embers into flame in a hundred places at once. Fortunately, the wind was followed by a heavy downpour of rain which undid the mischief created by the gale and quenched the flames.

About three hundred people attended the Peachland Regatta, which was carried out under the difficulty of rough water, on July 21st. The Kelowna crews, with the exception of the juniors, lost out in the war canoe races, which Peachland won. Naramata entered a crew in only one race, coming in a bad third.

WESTBANK

Mr. Halpin Moffat and Miss Joan Pritchard have returned home after operations for tonsils at Kelowna Hospital. Both are progressing fairly well.

On Friday night a most successful raspberry festival and dance was held in the Community Hall by the Westbank girls, who made all the arrangements and did all the work. The sum cleared was $45, $40 of which the girls presented to the Women's Institute to help them pay off the $100 promised by the Institute to the Ortho Scott endowment fund for the Solarium at Cobble Hill. The rest of the money, the girls spent on table cloths for the hall.

Chicago is now threatening to put all their crooked policemen in jail, says Judge. At least, it will obviate all danger of gunmen shooting a uniformed friend by mistake.

***** SENSATIONAL ACTION IN THE HIGH HEAVENS *****

"Flight" Provides Thrills Galore For Aviation Enthusiasts

"Flight," the all-talking aviation picture which comes to the Empress Theatre on Friday and Saturday, is said to be a mighty drama of adventure in the sky, featuring sensational air feats. A capable cast, including Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Lila Lee, handle their roles with skill and artistry. Loops, tail-spins and Immelman turns provide thrills galore for aviation enthusiasts. Fundamentally an aerial production, a beautiful and poignant love story is told against the background of breath-taking manoeuvres among the clouds.

"The Devil's Holiday"
Nancy Carroll, who has won the hearts of millions of theatre-goers the world over and who has captivated Kelowna patrons of the silent and talking screen drama in the past, rises to new heights in "The Devil's Holiday," the exceptionally good picture which will be shown on Monday and Tuesday. Miss Carroll ably demonstrates that she possesses histrionic ability high above the average. She was a tremendous hit in musical comedy, but her latest picture brings out such striking dramatic talent that it is likely her producers will confine her future activities to the drama.

Philip Holmes, who plays opposite Miss Carroll, almost steals the picture. Young, handsome, a great emotional actor, he portrays a difficult role in a most convincing manner. Other well-known members of the cast include Hobart Bosworth, James Kirkwood, Paul Lukas and ZaSu Pitts.

As a gold-digging maniac in league with several tricky salesmen, Miss Carroll gets a commission for winning and dining prospective buyers of agricultural implements. It's not exactly open and above board and there comes a day when Nancy regrets that she was ever in it, for she falls in love with the handsome young son of a wealthy farmer, after she has "baited" him for a deal with a tractor salesman. The scenes that follow give the story stirring and dramatic moments that must be seen to be appreciated.

"The Cohens and Kells in Scotland"
It is said that the latest Cohen and Kelly picture, "The Cohens and Kells in Scotland," which will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday, has more laughs than there are Scottish jokes. George Sidney, Charlie Murray, Vera Gordon and Kate Price, seasoned actors of stage and screen, are together again in the film. The picture is said to be replete with hilarious situations, the mirth continuous.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF SILO DESIGN

Some general principles with respect to silo design are noted by the architect of the Federal Department of Agriculture.

The larger diameter silo costs less per ton capacity than the smaller, both being the same height.

Of two silos of the same diameter, the higher gives a greater capacity per foot height than the lower.

The greater percentage of mouldy and poor silage is found nearer the top than lower down, as the weight compresses the silage and tends to exclude the air.

In cool weather from 1 1/2 to 2 inches should be fed per day in order to prevent loss by spoilage.

The foundation of the silo should be broad enough to prevent appreciable settling in the ground and deep enough to rest upon soil unaffected by frost.

Reeve Macdonald, Penticton, at a recent meeting of the Penticton Police Commissioners, hurled criticism at Chief of Police Davies for his general conduct of police affairs in the southern city. He considered the town was not cleaned up as it should be, that pandemonium did not receive sufficiently prompt attention, and that there was general slackness. The Chief, in defending himself, said that he had cleaned the town to a great extent since he had occupied the position as Chief of Police.

FERRY TALES

It was Tuesday morning. The man from Westbank was on the ferry returning to the Orchard City.

He was a jubilant man from Westbank. His party had won.

At least, he thought it had won. Anyhow, the government had been defeated.

That fact stimulated his heart action. It gave him a pleasant sensation. It was like the third glass of whiskey and soda at the end of the day.

At the joy of victory! The Great Electrician who "wired" the man from Westbank equipped him with a set of nerves through which current vibrated freely under stress of great excitement.

The commuter tried to sit down and think over the situation calmly, but it was impossible of execution. When he sat down it was not for more than a split second. As if built on springs, he rebounded nervously to his feet.

Except for the crew, he had the boat all to himself. There were no policemen around to escort him to a nut factory.

It being Tuesday morning, there were still a lot of things to think about. A comfortable conservative majority, for instance—if one materialized; Vancouver's idiotic.

Ah, Vancouver. The big Coast city that wanted a cabinet minister. The cabinet minister it got only to find he would soon be a cabinet minister no longer.

Eastern electors cheated Vancouver of its cabinet minister. Vancouver should have been content to take a chance.

Her Harry, she must have known, would have been elevated to political glory had she not been fickle with her old love.

And Leon... poor old Leon... South Vancouver deserted another old friend in the hour of dire need.

Possibly, though, Leon felt worse about it than South Vancouver. And Mac... poor old Gen. Macrae... he cracked the whip yet he was ousted. Such gratitude, such treatment. Ah, me!

There was one bright spot near Vancouver, however. Chilliwack. Jerry was almost rudely rejected. Jerry and his freight rates.

... Jerry and his dollars-and-cents opinion of himself... a shining light in the legal firmament.

... Good-bye to Jerry... there were quite a lot of bright spots. Old Quebec, for instance, old reliable of the Liberal party.

The Conservatives had made inroads there. As much of a surprise as the Liberals parading to glory unexpectedly in that section of British Columbia nearest to the water.

What was that old song? Something like "Fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong."

Mr. King, plain Mr. King, and his Lingerie preference-ballyhoo. It didn't go over. Maybe Mr. King would get angry at the whole thing and go back to the United States.

His policies declared he had no preference for his forty-eight neighbours, but did Mr. King dislike them? Did anybody know?

"Blasting" Bennett. Well, Dynamite Dick knew how to put it over. He got support from his own constituency.

... Funny how those things worked—he blasted his way right to the top. He went up, as his opponents predicted, but he didn't come down, as they predicted. It was a shame to disappoint the credulous.

Grote Stirling... good old Grote. Where could a better Minister of Agriculture be found?

B. C. might get her Minister after all. With good old, bantering old, Vancouver—always to be depended upon to fall off the wrong side of the fence—out of the running, there were few good men to choose from in the Conservatives in this province.

Walter Wilkins. A man to be admired in his defeat. A clean opponent. A man who fought courageously and fairly against great odds.

Possibly against great odds. This cogitating the man from Westbank, who had finally settled in a seat, fell asleep.

The boat hit the dock. He was rudely awakened. The voyage was over.

EAST KELOWNA

East Kelowna scholars distinguished themselves in the recent Entrance Examinations, four having passed very creditably out of six. D'Arze Deudy, with 457, topped the list; Oliver Deudy, 414; Eileen Hinks, 428, and Gordon Kennedy, 400. Congratulations to them all and may they keep up the excellent work. It is very gratifying to the parents and Mr. Reynolds, the Schoolmaster.

Mrs. McTavish has her sister from Saskatchewan visiting her.

Rose Fairweather, whilst spending a few days holiday with friends in town, was bitten by a dog and as a result is suffering with a very painful foot and is unable to get about. The dog had to be shot.

The Community Hall was used as a polling booth last Monday for the first time, and was found to be a great improvement on the School, there being plenty of room for the voters. For an election time it was very tame and quiet, perhaps due to the busy times and the heat. No heated arguments to relieve the monotony. None of us seemed to capture that exalted feeling of one who is able to influence the destiny of a nation by putting a pencilled cross on paper. We can all recall exciting times during an electioneering campaign, when feelings ran high and arguments were settled round the corner, and we flaunted our favourite's colours. In those days we took our politics seriously.

Kelowna Players Figure Strongly In Southern Okanagan Championships

With a good entry list to contest the various divisions, the Southern Okanagan Lawn Tennis Tournament at Penticton, held during Thursday, Friday and Saturday, proved to be a very interesting and well handled event. Much of the credit for the smooth running progress of the play is due to Inspector Cadiz, who was ably assisted by Mrs. McKinley and Miss Beatty. H. G. M. Gardner acted as official referee of the tournament by request of the southern club, and was congratulated by the tournament officials at the finish of the three days play, for his able services in this capacity. The Kelowna contingent fared well and figured in the final of nearly every division, the following players competing: Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. V. D. Lewis, Mrs. Tailyour, Miss Pease, Messrs. H. G. M. Gardner, V. D. Lewis and A. E. Hill.

All finals were completed by 5.30 p.m. Saturday, the winners and runners-up in each event being as follows:

Men's Open Doubles: Dodwell, well, Summerland; runner-up, H. Routh, Penticton.

Ladies' Open Singles: Miss Pease, Kelowna; runner-up, Mrs. Tailyour, Kelowna. This was an exceedingly close and hard fought match, in which the two local players provided a large gallery with what was conceded by all to be the best match of the tournament.

Men's Open Singles: P. G. Dodwell, Summerland, and A. E. Hill and V. D. Lewis, Kelowna.

Ladies' Open Doubles: Mrs. Tailyour and Mrs. Gardner, Kelowna; runners-up, Mrs. V. D. Lewis and Miss Pease, Kelowna.

Mixed Doubles, Open: Dodwell, Summerland, and Mrs. Gardner, Kelowna; runners-up, A. E. Hill and Miss Pease, Kelowna.

Veterans' Doubles: Cadiz and Smith, Penticton; runners-up, Stewart and Fitzpatrick, Oliver.

Mixed Doubles, Handicap: Richards and Mrs. Richards, Salmon Arm; runners-up, Lewis and Mrs. Lewis, Kelowna.

Consolation Singles, Men: Richards, Salmon Arm; runner-up, Holden, Penticton.

Consolation Singles, Ladies: Mrs. Horsfield, Penticton; runner-up, Mrs. McNicholl, Penticton.

FISHERMEN NOT SO KEEN DURING PAST WEEK

Slackness May Be Due To The Heat Or Too Much Politics

The heat or the elections—one or the other—must take the responsibility for the lackadaisical interest in fishing shown by sportsmen during the past week. Or, on the other hand, if there was much angling going on, it was not such as to merit a good fish story. When big ones are caught the news spreads fast. Thus it is that these extremely logical conclusions are arrived at: Fishermen were not fishing; fishermen were fishing but didn't catch fish.

S. Burg, a former Prince Rupert man, claims exemption from both, however. He went out on Okanagan Lake on Tuesday morning, trolled with a copper line in the vicinity of Manhattan, and caught five nice trout weighing from three to five pounds a truck. Newcomers seem to have all the luck on the big lake.

Jack Stirling and party, not included with the lackadaisical, trolled Beaver Lake on Saturday with gratifying success. They caught four averaging seven pounds each.

A. Rankin and party spent three days at Bear Lake last week. They found the fly fishing exceptionally good, catching the limit in one day.

C. L. Clark, fishing at Shuswap Falls over the week-end, returned home with a basket of seven beauties. He used fly and spinner below the power house.

Dr. Collins, of New Westminster, and F. Pridham found the fly satisfactory lure at Chute Lake recently, and caught five nice trout weighing from three to five pounds a truck. Well, a story was made out of it after all.

POOLING PLAN CARRIES BY MAJORITY

cars, while fifteen members, representing a total tonnage of 1,765, supported it.

Mr. Chambers said that the names of all shippers who voted for the exclusion of celery from pools would be turned over to the Committee in order that their objection might be considered.

Tomatoes And Cucumbers

Tomatoes and cucumbers, recommended by the Directors "not to be pooled meanwhile," evoked considerable discussion. Mr. Carlin, of Kamloops, declared that the entire Main Line objected strongly to the pooling of those commodities now or at any other time. He was supported by Mr. C. E. Weeks, of Kelowna, and Capt. Hilliard, representing the Main Line Vegetable Growers' Association.

Capt. Hilliard said that he had been sent to the meeting by Kamloops and Ashcroft growers to object to the pooling of vegetables and fruit. They were opposed to it one hundred per cent. They had supported the pooling idea originally only on the understanding that a visible surplus was to be dealt with in that manner. They could not see a surplus of semi-ripe tomatoes and they opposed the apple pool as outlined because it would be six or eight months before they got returns. Without a pool, they would get good prices for their early fruit. They wanted nothing to do with pools unless there was a surplus.

The chairman remarked that Mr. Black was present and would see that their objections were given consideration.

Mr. Cuthbert declared that the manner in which celery was to be treated was nothing short of criminal.

Mr. McDonald said that, as a large number of independents were opposed to a system of pooling, any plan adopted must be in accordance with the Act. He read a resolution to the effect that the meeting go on record that the pooling arrangement adopted must be in accordance with the Act as amended in 1930. This was seconded by Mr. Allan, of Kelowna, and carried.

The chairman pointed out that it was not proposed to put into effect anything not in accordance with the Act.

Mr. O. Jennings wondered how it would be possible to control fruit if tomatoes and cucumbers were not controlled, while another member asked if the meeting had considered how evils were to be eliminated if everything was not included in pools.

Mr. H. B. D. Lyons did not see how cucumbers and semi-ripenes could be pooled, and Mr. Leo Hayes saw no necessity for changing the situation with regard to those commodities.

Mr. J. Spall contended that, if a pool was established for semi-ripenes and cucumbers without a recognized surplus, it would benefit the jobber-shippers. There had to be some regulation governing surplus and also the grower.

Mr. F. A. Lewis, of Associated Growers, said that his understanding was that, in the event of tomatoes being pooled, a pool would be declared when lots were available for all shippers. When the supply became greater, a stop-picking order could be sent out to eliminate surplus.

At this point, Mr. Montague, of Vernon, moved that tomatoes and cucumbers be removed altogether from pools to obviate any possibility of that produce being included in a pooling arrangement that might be proposed later in the season. The resolution was defeated, Associated Growers, Unity Fruit Co. and Creston Growers, with 3,822 cars opposing it, thirteen other fruit growers, representing a tonnage of 1,799, voting for it.

The chairman remarked that the names of those in opposition to tomato and cucumber pools would go to the Committee for consideration.

Questions By Mr. Kidston

Mr. Kidston here bombarded Mr. Black with a number of questions.

"Is pooling of each product to be dependent upon a surplus being declared?" he asked.

"Yes," said Mr. Black, "on the recognized existence of a surplus, a pool can be declared at any time." On other angles of the question, however, Mr. Black would not give a positive answer, stating that much depended upon conditions prevailing.

May pools be declared without a surplus being declared?" was another of Mr. Kidston's questions.

Mr. Black: "Yes."

Following some further discussion, Mr. Howe declared his sympathy for the Armstrong celery growers. He felt that the Federation should be a means of bringing various bodies of producers and shippers together. When shippers worked amicably, things went along all right; when one body opposed another, there was disruption.

Mr. Chambers reiterated that all would be given consideration by the Committee. If celery shippers did not want a pool, why give it to them?

Mr. Jennings was of the opinion that the pooling plan should cover all commodities on the same basis in all areas covered by the Produce Marketing Act.

Mr. McNair, of Associated Growers, agreed. They were trying to devise some means to assist control. Pooling was the only means they knew of doing it. Without pooling there would be no control.

Committee Blamed For Delay

Mr. Kidston said there had never been any good reason given why control had failed. It was due to the inefficient way in which it had been exercised. Now an attempt was being made through various mediums to place the blame for the delay in working out a pooling plan with the independents.

The delay was the fault of the Committee, he insisted.

The chairman remarked that though they might be trying to do the impossible, if the shippers did not settle upon some plan of operation, the growers would do it for them. "If we have no control this year," he declared, "it will mean disaster for the growers and the responsibility will be largely ours."

A poll was taken on the Directors' recommendations, which were carried.

Mr. Howe asked if shippers intended to request the new government to force enforcement of the anti-dumping duty to keep low grade United States fruit from being dumped on Canadian markets, which resulted in passage of a resolution to that effect. Mr. Weeks seconded the motion.

The meeting then adjourned.

LIBERALS HEAR WILKINS AND DONAGHY

to power. There was a small measure of depression now, he admitted, although there had been a one-hundred per cent increase in export trade through trade treaties, trade commissioners, etc., and some six hundred new industries had been established. Canada led the world in the production and exportation of asbestos, paper, wheat, nickel, etc. Constant reductions in taxation, sales and income had been effected and many petty taxes cut out entirely, and the national debt had been reduced by ten per cent. National railway systems, all practically bankrupt, had been amalgamated under Sir Henry Thornton at the instance of Premier King and now, instead of a deficit, the systems showed a handsome profit of many millions a year. Material increases in fruit and vegetable tariffs had done much for that industry.

The Dunning Budget

Dealing with the Dunning budget, he declared that it would transfer much business from the United States to the Old Country. He read extracts from English newspapers in which appreciation of the budget was expressed. He felt that the Liberal government could go confidently to the people on the budget alone. He painted a vivid picture of the predicament in which Canada would find herself if Great Britain did not purchase her wheat.

WASTAGE IN FRUIT EXPORTS FROM CANADA

As conditions inside the barrel are particularly favourable to the development of rotting, packing should be delayed until the latest possible date before shipment.

Ontario and Nova Scotia apples suffer also from scab, especially the "Domestic" and the "No. 3" grades, in which 100% of scabbed apples are permitted. "From the standpoint of an observer in this country," the Report remarks, "the control of scab appears to be one of the most serious problems of the Eastern Canadian fruit industry." The spray service recently operating in Ontario appears to be a very promising step in this direction.

Breakdown

British Columbia has a different set of troubles. One of these is "internal breakdown." In most varieties the damage is almost negligible, but in the Jonathan variety it takes a heavy toll, sometimes up to 15 or 20 per cent. Unfortunately, the highest grade—"Extra Fancy"—is the one most seriously affected. A considerable difference was noted in the extent of breakdown in the consequent growth and prosperity of the Powell River mills brought about by the Robt. Treat's, were cited by the speaker as among the beneficial actions of the King administration. Referring to Canada's raw material, which Mr. Bennett proposed to keep at home, Mr. Donaghy said that that sounded fine in theory, but never in the history of the world had it been found practical. Even the United States, held up by Mr. Bennett as a glowing example, had to export raw material and re-purchase it in manufactured form. For example, there was a tremendous over-production of copper in the world. Would other nations weep if Canada, with the great Britannia copper mine, held on to it? Furthermore, it would be impractical and unprofitable to attempt to smelt it here.

Following an explanation of counter-vailing duties and their application in emergencies arose, and reference to Canada's unfavourable trade balance with the United States, the speaker concluded with eulogization of the Dunning budget, which, he declared, would constitute a big factor in equalizing the balance of trade with our southern neighbours. "Canada must be induced to transfer her business from the American store to the British market," he said. "But Mr. Bennett is opposed to British preference without direct return. If he goes to the London conference next fall, our sister Dominions will jump out the window. Canada is bound up and dependent on the welfare of the Empire as a whole. The Dunning budget has taken cognizance of that very vital fact. Do you approve?"

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem and three cheers for Mr. Donaghy.
